Mont Blanc Is Advertised
Light of the Mind
Thinking Big and Small
An Ancient Dread

Francis H. Simon, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust company, repeats what has often been said here, that the big problem is not production, but distribution.

Simon is on the up grade. Mr. Simon does not agree with that distinguished political economist, Solly Wertheim, who says, "Business is looking up, flat on its back, looking up."

Mr. Simon reminds merchants that with adequate advertising goods can be sold at a lower price than without advertising.

First, have what the people want, then let them know you have it.

Consider Mont Blanc, nice mountain in Switzerland.

One million and eighty thousand people visited Mont Blanc last year, spending more than $10,000,000 in little communities near the mountain. Only 100 climbed to the top.

We have bigger, better mountains, but they don't get the advertising that Mont Blanc gets, and they don't take in the money.

It is true that established reputation helps Mont Blanc. It is also true that advertising helps to establish reputations, and keep them established.

There is no better work than distributing good books. They are the light of the mind, stimulate ambition, develop good taste, prepare men's minds for service in the present by making them acquainted with the achievements, discoveries and services of the past.

Mr. George H. Putnam, veteran of the Civil war, and a most distinguished veteran of the book publishing profession, now dead at eighty-five years of age, represents public service in a high degree.

New York's police force includes a "radical squad," selected to deal with "unusually radical" persons.

Planning that squad in any of extraordinary prosperity, somebody was looking far ahead.

As a rule, prosperity is more effective than poison gas in dealing with radicalism.

In the clash between unemployed residents and police in New York, the photographs show women struggling and fighting more violently than men. Nothing surprising in this. When women believe anything they believe it more violently than men. And when they believe, nothing is important compared with their belief, and they care little what happens to them.

Henry Ford will say in Capper's Magazine for April that "It is just as easy to think big as it is to think small."

It is, after you get a start. For instance, in 1859, seventy-one years ago, John D. Rockefeller, who began working as office boy for $15 a month, started for himself as a commission man. He began "thinking big." He had accumulated $17,000 in 1862 and took a partner, Maurice B. Clark. They invested their money in a crude oil refinery in Cleveland.

That was the beginning of "thinking big."

In 1895 Mr. Rockefeller, who is now approaching his ninety-first birthday, and was then twenty-six, bought out his partner for $72,500. Standard Oil corporation papers were signed on January 10, 1870. Standard Oil is now sixty years old.

John D. Rockefeller has been "thinking big" ever since.

His best "big thinking" has been devoted to the fight against disease. Instead of using a few dollars to relieve individual cases, he used tens of millions to eliminate disease permanently.

Signals to protect pedestrians from automobiles are to be installed in big cities and "amber colored" lights were suggested. The police say: "Drivers will pay no attention to anything but red. That makes them stop."

Why is it that red impresses men, and even the lower animals? Is it, perhaps, because men, for forty million years, and animals through hundreds of millions of years before man came, have known and inherited one great dread, the red blaze of a forest or prairie fire?

The national industrial conference board tells you that the wealth of the United States amounts to three hundred and sixty billion one hundred million.

It sounds a lot, but it is only $3,000 for each American, with about $500 extra for New Yorkers. That isn't enough.

Human machines alone, leaving out mines, real estate, factories, are worth more than three hundred and sixty billions.

This land and its people are worth whatever science and industry choose to produce—certainly not mere billions, but trillions.

Taxes may be bigger. President Hoover warns congress that it is inclined to spend money too freely. An increase of 40 per cent in taxes might follow any too liberal appropriations.

DIST. TOURNAMENT OPENS HERE TODAY

12 TEAMS SCHEDULED TO PLAY THURS., FRI. AND SAT., AFTERNOONS AND EVENINGS

Everything is all set for the basketball tournament which is going to open today, the twelve high school teams of northern Michigan participating. These teams have been getting ready for this event for a long time and a real fight will be on. Each team is confident that they are the one who will be the champion of the event. Keen playing will be seen as every team is in fine shape for the battle.

C. A. Potter of Mt. Pleasant and Roy Milne of the official referees for the tournament. Fred Alexander will be time keeper and Gerald Poor will keep the score. The first game will start at 2:30 Thursday afternoon and each afternoon and evening games will be played until the final Saturday night.

Drawings for places were made last Saturday with the district manager and several coaches of the various teams being present and the following is the result:

Class D Eliminations

For teams in class D-Hillman drew their first game with St. Joseph (West Branch). They will be first to enter the court, and are scheduled to appear at 2:30 Thursday.

Comins will meet Houghton Lake at 2:45 the same afternoon.

Vanderbilt will play McBain at 7:30 Thursday evening and Mio will fight it out with St. Mary's (Gaylord) at 8:45 Thursday night.

Class C Eliminations

Grayling will contest against Lake City at 8:00 o'clock Friday evening, and West Branch and Gaylord will play at 9:15 on Friday night.

The winners of the class D games will play on Friday afternoon and Friday night. Also on Friday and Saturday afternoons consolation games for class D and for class C will be played.

Saturday night will witness the final championship games between class C and D teams, after which trophies will be awarded the winners.

Everything points to an overwhelming attendance at all games especially those of Friday and Saturday nights. Gaylord and West Branch are certain to attract large crowds from their respective towns, besides Grayling fans who always be counted in to turn out in great numbers.

St. Mary's night finals, too, will be certain to attract a large attendance.

M. A. Bates manager of the tournament and his assistants, Emil Kraus and T. P. Peterson have been working hard to have everything in readiness for the tournament. Through the courtesy of a number of our business men score cards have been provided to enable complete and accurate records to be kept by all.

The season tickets sell for $1.50 for adults and $1 for school pupils. The afternoon games will begin at 2:30 and the evening games at 7:30.

FIFTY-EIGHT DESTROYERS TO BE SCRAPPED

Due to the discovery of boiler defects in fifty-eight of the war-time built destroyers of the U. S. Navy, these vessels will be decommissioned prior to being scrapped. Minute cracks were discovered to extend into the metal of the boilers, rendering their operation dangerous.—Navy News.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET ENJOYED

HEAR INSPIRING ADDRESS BY MARGARET TEMPLE SMITH

The second annual Mothers' and Daughters' banquet sponsored by the Woman's Club of our city was given Monday evening at the Michelson Memorial church.

It was an inspiring sight indeed to witness the large assemblage of mothers and daughters as they were seated at the long tables which filled the beautiful banquet room of the church.

Two hundred proud, self-assured, happy mothers side by side with the most endearing object of God's love, their daughters.

The dining room was most attractive with streamers of soft pink and green crepe paper. The tables were pictures of daintiness with center decorations of pink flowers guarded by tall pink tapers.

Fourteen guests found places at the speaker's table. Included in this list were Mrs. Margaret Temple Smith of Bay City and Mrs. E. F. Hildebrand of Saginaw.

Mrs. Hildebrand, president of the Woman's Club and the officers of the Goodwill club, and Miss Noreen LaBarge. Each of these was accompanied by her respective daughter—or mother. Mrs. Smith, the speaker and honor guest of the evening, was accompanied by Mrs. E. Becker of Bay City.

A very appetizing and delicious dinner was put on by the ladies of the L. D. S. and the service rendered by the spiffy, white-coated gentlemen was one of the interesting features of the evening. They certainly "knew their stuff" and showed efficient home training.

Proceeding the banquet and through-out the program the following musical selections were rendered:

Duet—"You Are A Wonderful Mother"—Miss Marie Schmidt, and Miss Ione Arnold.

Solo—"Oh! Sweet Mystery of Life"—Miss Marie Schmidt.

Duet—"Mother of Pearl"—Miss Louise McAllister and Mrs. H. G. Jarmin.

Solo—"Songs My Mother Taught Me"—Miss McAllister.

Each of these musical numbers was most beautifully rendered and the appreciation of the crowd was shown by the hearty applause which followed each selection. The toast

GRAYLING HIGH DEFEATS WEST BRANCH

VISITORS LOSE THEIR FIRST GAME OF SEASON

The score was 22 and 16 and great was the fall thereof as a string of fifteen straight victories came crashing to earth and West Branch lost to Grayling on the Northern Light's home floor before a howling mob of rooters from both sides, who packed the gym and saw a last quarter drive net a victory for the local team by a decisive margin.

The game was a thriller all the way. The West Branch team fought desperately to add to their long continued winning streak. They fought a courageous battle and never ceased to be dangerous. But they were doomed to lose to the Northern Lights. Better floor generalship and a last quarter drive turned the issue at last and sent the local crowd home in high good humor, while the visitors, numerous enough, had a long cold trip back to make the evening complete.

The visitors held a one point advantage at the end of the first quarter, 5-4, though they lost the services of Captain Vogan, via the personal foul route, Roddy Harrison of the Lights went out of the game temporarily, with three personals, and didn't get back until the final quarter started. Grayling was on the right side of a 9-10 score at the halfway mark and managed to cling to the lead at the end of the third period. West Branch staged a rally in this quarter and the play was hot. Plenty hot. But as the last stanza opened Grayling threw into high gear and forged ahead with an offensive that would not be denied and which brought the decision to rest with Grayling. In the final eight minutes the visitors were held to a single point and the issue was not in doubt.

The game was a nice one to take. West Branch won on their own floor and counted Grayling in as one of their victories as they continued to win. But everything that goes up must come down, except the price of coal, and every winning streak ends sooner or later. In spite of everything West Branch lost. They lost, and there could be but little doubt but that they deserved to lose; that the best team won. The partisans of the visitors were numerous and vocally active, but there could be no doubt in the minds of the most rabid that the final result was a fair index of the combatants of last Friday night. The game was handled by Potter of Central State and he called them close and accurately. Grayling was detected in error nine times and the losers ten.

The Reserve teams of the two schools fought to a 2-1 verdict for West Branch in a very tight game that aroused the enthusiasm of the crowd to a high pitch. The game was settled in the last four moments when Morse, forward for the winners, snared a one-hand hook shot that took its time about dropping and which he probably couldn't duplicate by the Fourth of July.

CENSUS TAKERS ARE ANNOUNCED

WORK MUST BE COMPLETED DURING APRIL

Frank Potter of Alpena, district census enumerator for this region, was in Grayling recently and while there reviewed the conditions relative to the taking of the census. This work will be done during the month of April and already the plans are practically complete for covering the entire county.

Clarence Johnson has been appointed enumerator of manufacturer and sales for the entire county and also for taking the census in Grayling village and township.

For Frederic and Maple Forest Mrs. Emma Howse has been appointed. For South Branch Hugo Schlicher Jr. Beaver Creek, Mrs. Etta Nowlin, and for Lovells, Edgar Douglas.

Manufacturers and agriculturists must make special reports giving information covering their activities in their respective lines. On the blank covering agriculture there are 232 questions to answer—most of them perplexing, of course. Same with the manufacturers reports. One is inclined to wonder why the department in summing up the answers. However the government believes it is necessary to learn these facts therefore it is up to us to assist the enumerators in every possible manner to get the information required.

While we doubt if there is a single person or family who will hesitate to give the census takers the information required still we believe it is well to suggest a warning that the penalty for refusing to answer any questions and for giving false reports is very severe.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO.

Thursday, March 7, 1907

The bill which passed both houses dividing the township of Frederic into two voting precincts is signed by the governor and is now a law. The citizens of Deward will be pleased.

Born, March 1st, to Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Eastman, a daughter.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Soule of Frederic, Feb. 27th.

Miss Grace Jennings, one of our last summer graduates, is stenographer for Scott Bros. Electrical Co., Detroit.

Carl Collen, who has taken a position as fireman in the Bay City yards, was home Tuesday for a day's visit. He is well pleased with his job.

A fire in West Branch Tuesday morning destroyed $10,000.00 worth of seeds for the Evans Seed Co., who had but slight insurance. The fire caught from the office stove.

Miss Alma Park has since New Year's day, while convalescent from illness, completed a bed quilt containing 4200 pieces and about 170,000 stitches. All hand work.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stowell have returned from a month's vacation, having visited at Lansing, Owosso, Kalamazoo and other points. While they thoroughly enjoyed the outing, they are glad to be back in the "Best Town."

Last Monday was the day for the execution of pension certificates of the current quarter and about forty of the old comrades were promptly on hand. It will add over $1,200 to the treasury of this county within the week.

Axel Michelson arrived here from Monroe, La., Sunday morning, to meet with the officers of the Grayling Lumber Co., who bought the big plant there. He reported progress, and the started back Tuesday, to complete the clearing up and inauguration of business.

F. L. Michelson purchased a half interest in the meat market of Thos. Sheridan at Johannesburg last week. They intend to give their customers the best on the market.

Had Right Dope On Oil 23 Years Ago
The Avalanche in its issue of 23 years ago printed an article taken from the Coleman Independent that is of special interest now since the development of oil fields near the region in which it was then predicted there was oil and gas. It reads as follows:

"O. J. Sarber and his associates, Pittsburgh, who have been following the oil veins from California eastward through Kansas, Kentucky and Indiana and who have been the leaders in opening the great oil fields in Canada and the United States, have been in this locality, studying the conditions and soil formations, and after making several preliminary tests, they have decided that they have located the next great oil and gas producing fields just north of Coleman in Warren, Beaverton and Tobacco townships. They claim that there is a natural divide two miles north of Coleman, which separates the oil from the salt brine. These gentlemen have traversed the whole region during the past two months and have secured leases of nearly all the land in Beaverton and Tobacco townships, and they are now securing leases in other parts of Gladwin county and in the northern part of Midland county."

"They propose to commence operations at once and put down at least one 13-inch test hole before spring to the depth of about 2,000 feet, and they will continue to drill on the leases until a good oil flow is found."

"The company has opened offices in Beaverton, and it has the cooperation of this city and Beaverton."

"Mr. Sarber says they will probably build a refinery at Coleman to save the expense of a long pipe line to the southern fields."

GIANT PRESSES MUNCHES OUT FENDERS WITH 600-POUND BITE

Immense Oakland Machine Has Hourly Capacity Of 720 Front Fenders

Exerting a bite of 640.00 pounds a giant fender press in the stamping plant of the Oakland Motor Car Company forms two front fenders at a time from heavy gauge sheet steel. Nonchalantly munching the fare fed into its capacious maw by skilled workmen, the immense machine produces 720 front fenders per hour. The power of big electric motors is multiplied so tremendously by gearing that the fender dies shape the steel as though it were wax.

The fender giant is only one of 200 presses in the Oakland stamping plant which range in power down to machines of only 30 ton pressure designated by the blade attendants as "midgets."

The big stamping plant, covering a quarter of a million square feet of floor area, produces approximately 150 different stampings for each Oakland Eight and Pontiac Six, representing about 500 press operations per car. During 1929 nearly 100,000,000 pounds of metal was fabricated in the plant.

During the last four months the Oakland Motor Car Company has awarded over $1,400 to its employees as prizes for suggested methods to reduce waste and increase efficiency in the Oakland-Pontiac factories.

URGES DAIRYMEN TO ADOPT DANES' FARMING SYSTEM

CHICAGO—Unsound advice is being given to American dairy farmers in an attempt to convince them that they are themselves responsible for the present surplus of butter and a resulting depression in butter prices, according to Harry Edward Freund, noted economist and lecturer.

Harry Edward Freund

Freund cited the case of Denmark, recognized as one of the world's most thrifty and prosperous countries, to prove his contention that American farmers are receiving "unsound advice" when they are told to "eat more butter and keep the prices up." Instead, he said, American farmers should be advised to follow the thrifty Danes toward economic stability by "making good butter and eating wholesome substitutes if economically advisable."

"Denmark relies almost entirely on its dairying industry for prosperity," Freund pointed out. "The people of Denmark consume nearly sixteen times as much margarine per capita as do Americans. Yet the Danes are noted for their sturdy health and physical development."

"The Danish rate of Denmark from tuberculosis, various forms of kidney diseases, and other ailments due to improper diet is about 30 percent less than the death rate from similar causes in the United States."

"While the Danes ship their butter abroad, they are great milk drinkers and produce their own milk and cream to a much greater degree than do Americans. And thus they avoid vast butter surpluses."

"American dairy farmers would do well to follow the successful Danish plan, rather than the economically unsound advice of those whose chief aim seems to be to help the farmer."

CURING COLDS COSTS WORKERS $50 YEARLY

CHICAGO—Catching cold is an expensive business. Among other things it costs the average American worker about $50 a year time off from his job and doctor bills for curing up colds.

"Coughs, colds, sore throats, sniffles, and whoops and the important influenza which common colds impose on the nation's army of workers result in an economic loss to the United States of more than $200,000,000 annually," declared Ferdinand A. Bunte of Bunte Brothers, Chicago candy manufacturers.

"The nation's bill for cough drops alone, to alleviate colds, runs into millions of dollars a year."

"The biggest groups suffering from colds, and rank as large consumers of cough drops, many parents instead of dosing their youngsters with syrups which may upset the juvenile stomachs, soothe their little throats with cooling menthol in candy form."

TOURISTS INFLUENCE U. S. EATING HABITS

CHICAGO—What Uncle Sam spreads on his bread is due in large measure to the influence of American tourists returning home with a liking for European eating habits.

In the case of both butter and margarine the influence of foreign travelers is apparent, says a bulletin of the American Research Foundation. "The demand for a light-colored, milk-flavored spread for bread, such as trans-Atlantic travelers are used in Europe, has caused manufacturers to adopt this type in America."

"Similarly the shift from a high color to a straw color in the spreads for our bread, is attributed by many to the influence of European margarine on American tourists. The widespread use of margarine in Europe is having a profound effect in promoting the popularity of this toothsome product in America. The American traveler abroad finds margarine on the table in the most fashionable cafes and restaurants of the Continent. He acquires a liking for margarine and naturally asks for it when he gets back home."

URGE REPEAL OF TAX

CHICAGO—Repeal of federal and state license taxes on retail grocers who sell margarine will be sought by the National Association of Retail Grocers. It was disclosed at the recent annual meeting of the board of directors here.

The association representing 80,000 retail grocery establishments in the United States regards these taxes as an "unjust discrimination against both grocers and consumers," according to C. H. Janssen, of St. Paul, secretary.

Child That "Stammers" Victim of Nervousness

The most usual form of speech disorder is "stammering," or "stuttering." From the standpoint of development there are two distinct types, one which commences with the development of speech and the other that begins after the child has learned to speak normally. The first form is the more difficult to correct.

The underlying cause of stammering is purely mental. It is essentially due to emotional disturbance, and implies lessened ability to meet a difficult situation. It is most frequently observed in so-called nervous, highly-strung children. As these children grow older they subconsciously fear that their speech organs will refuse to work and have the horror of being the object of ridicule. A sense of inferiority develops, establishing a vicious circle—the greater the dread, the more imperfect their speech.

According to some observers, stammering is more or less common among left-handed children when they are taught to become right-handed writers. This opinion is largely responsible for the objection to educators attempting to train left-handed children to become right-handed. It is also believed to be more common among boys than girls.—Health News.

Blind Students Aided In Professional Study

A blind person can now obtain a Braille manuscript copy of any work, however technical or abstruse, in any language. This has been made possible, says the British National Institute for the Blind, by the work of a band of volunteers who devote their lives to copying out for blind students the textbooks required in various professions.

The work is by no means easy, and does not simply imply copying line after line of printed words. Charts, tables, dates, diagrams, tables, references, and a hundred other items have to be studied.

Students are asked to return the volumes when finished with, and from these a valuable library is being formed. Thousands of volumes on almost every branch of knowledge, from alchemy to zoology, are already in the students' catalogue.—London Tit-Bits.

Dropped Into Sea Lingo

Here is a story about a Nantucket Quakeress who was a very superior feeling person. On a visit to New Bedford the young woman was invited to a tea party and expressed a fervent hope that she would not use any sea phrase while there.

Keeping a close watch upon her words she got on all right until, as they started to leave the table, a man away up at the far end asked her what her father was doing. Every face was turned to her and every ear listening for word of the sick man.

Flustered by having the attention so suddenly focused on herself, she said: "Thank, thee, but he rather goes a-stern." Then she was overcome with confusion, for she had lapsed into the sea lingo she had determined to avoid.—Brooklyn Enterprise.

Speed in Reading

Prof. Walter B. Pitkin of Columbia university stated that there are great differences in the speed of reading in different classes of society. Young newspaper men catch with one glance of the eye 4.7 words, while experienced editors take in as many as 7.2 words, which is more than the ordinary newspaper time. On the other hand, engineers, who deal with things rather than with words, have an average eye-grasp of only 3.3 words. The engineers are credited, however, with retaining the meaning in a passage of 100 words better than the men of any other group.

The Boss's Daily Dose

The boss used to say to me sometimes, "Never get mad at the sheep. It doesn't do you any good. I never used to get mad when I herded." But at other times I have heard him tell how he would sometimes throw his cap on the ground and dance up and down on it and yell. Since he never got mad, it is evident that this was some form of physical culture, or perhaps his way of doing his daily dose.—From "Sheep" by Archer B. Gilliland.

Flattery's Significance

because of improvements in its 60 horsepower engine

Much of Pontiac's increased smoothness is due to new type rubber mountings which now insulate its engine from the frame, and to a more rigid crankcase which assures more permanent bearing and crankshaft alignment. Then too, smoothness is intensified by the Harmonic Balancer which counteracts torsional crankshaft vibration. Finally, Pontiac's basic engine design enables it to develop 60 horsepower at moderate engine speed. No matter how fast or hard you drive, the engine runs smoothly and silently. . . . In this car you get reliability and long life seldom equaled except in cars of much higher price. Furthermore, you get remarkable economy. Your own good judgment should suggest that you investigate this finer Pontiac.

MAJESTIC RADIO AND FRIGIDAIRE-OPENING

The opening of the Majestic radio and Frigidaire shop in the Shopping-Place Inn sales room was held last Friday evening and Saturday. Mr. Frank X. Tetu is the manager of this new enterprise.

The sales room was attractive with its newly decorated walls, floor and refreshment service. Potted plants, ferns and cut flowers and a red floor light in the window added much to the pleasing effect of the room.

Mr. Crusey and Mr. Jersey from the Frigidaire company and Mr. Cooper from Majestic radio company were here to assist Mr. Tetu this past week. They are planning on an extensive campaign this coming season.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICE CONTINUES

Evangelistic services are still continuing at the Free Methodist church on the South Side. The attendance is increasing steadily.

Sunday service begins with Sunday school at 10:00 a. m., preaching service at 11:00 a. m., and 7:00 p. m., and each evening during the week at 7:00 p. m. Rev. Sharpe says he is well pleased with the interest of the people and the increased attendance.

WELL KNOWN GAYLORD YOUNG MAN PASSES AWAY

Keith Lewis, Son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Lewis, Dies in Detroit

Francis Brady of Detroit spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brady.

Mrs. Ernest Jorgenson of Detroit is spending a couple of weeks visiting Miss Helga Jorgenson.

Mrs. Jess Schoonover and daughter Pauline motored to Saginaw Saturday. They returned Sunday.

Mrs. William Christenson returned home Monday after spending several days in Lansing and Detroit visiting relatives.

Mrs. Dorothy Jorgenson left Saturday for Detroit to visit for a couple of weeks at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. J. Warner.

Mrs. Walter Rosworth of Bay City returned Tuesday to her home in Bay City after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Johnson and family.

Friday and Saturday evenings after the basketball games there will be extra shows at the Rialto theatre to accommodate those wishing to see "The Cock Eyed World." See this game and then the show.

Last week in the article written for the "Knights of Columbus" supper, a change must be made. Mrs. J. W. Letzkus was the chairman of the supper committee instead of Mrs. Marius Hanson as stated.

Don't forget the big dance at the Temple Theatre St. James' night, March 17. Come and enjoy yourself and bring a friend. There will be no dance the Saturday night previous, so be sure to attend this one. Good music and all the latest dance hits.

Adv.

Alfred Hanson has delivered cars to several in Grayling. James McNeven is driving a new Chevrolet Sedan Runow Hanson a new Chevrolet Sport Sedan, Fred A. Graub a Chevrolet truck and Geo. Stephan a new Pontiac Custom Sedan.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lamm, Isa and Howard Granger returned Thursday from an enjoyable southern motor trip where they had been sojourning for several weeks. They report a wonderful time and have some interesting stories to tell of the trip.

The basketball game between Al Seger's Indians (real Indians) and the V. F. W. team in Gaylord last evening was attended by many from Grayling. Some wonderful playing was put on by these Indian boys who surely know how to play basketball.

Mrs. Arnold Barrows entertained a number of ladies at her home last Thursday evening. The time was spent playing cards and prizes were awarded for the lowest and highest score. The hostess served refreshments to her guests later in the evening.

Friends will be grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Frank Barker of Flint, formerly Elsie Montenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Montenson of Beaver Creek. The funeral services will be held here at the Michelson Memorial church at 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Green left Thursday evening for Milwaukee to visit relatives. The doctor attended a dental convention during the time he was in Milwaukee and together with his wife attended the Milwaukee Junior Prom. Dr. Green has returned to Grayling and Mrs. Green expects to remain at her parent's home until Easter.

Mrs. James Reynolds, Liland Smock, Ellis Daugherty, and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Green of Roscommon spent from Friday until Monday in Flint visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reynolds and family. While there they attended a basketball game between the Flint Northern and Flint Southern High schools. Mrs. Reynolds' grandson Russell Reynolds played on the former team.

HANSON—APARTMENTS COMPLETED

Holger (Dad) Hanson has completed two suites of rooms over his restaurant on Michigan Ave. Each of these apartments contain four large rooms and a bath. They are artistically decorated, beautifully furnished, altogether livable rooms. All the rooms have an outside window which is a very desirable feature not always found in apartments. The kitchen appointments will delight the heart of any housewife. Hot and cold running water as well as well water for drinking and cooking purposes are to be had. Built-in cabinets make them more convenient and they are heated with steam heat. These apartments make a very nice addition to Grayling's list of available living quarters and are among the nicest in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hyde and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dove and son, the gentlemen are both working as engineers for the State Highway Department are now occupying these apartments.

For washing and rinsing utensils a clean, safe water supply is absolutely necessary. Contaminated water may be a source of danger not only to persons living on the farm but also to those who use milk from the farm. Walls and springs should always be protected from surface drainage. The drainage from privies, hog pens, barnyards, and other sources of contamination should always be away from the well, and both springs and wells should be walled in, curbed, and tightly covered.

ENTERTAINS WITH BIRTHDAY PARTY

For the pleasure of their daughter Betty, whose fifteenth birthday occurred Thursday, February 27th, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Welsh entertained with a supper party and a frolic at the Board of Trade rooms.

Guests to the number of thirty-two found their places at the tables which were decorated with bouquets of pink flowers flanked on each side with pink tapers. A gay time followed the party when prizes were won by Mary Mahneke and Milford Parker for the Peanut race, by Dorothy Roberts and Nels Olson for musical chairs and by Mary Mahneke and Jerome Kessler for the lucky house number.

Dancing was one of the features of the party and favors of all kinds were given out during this part of the entertainment which gave color as well as real pep to the occasion. The guests left wishing their hosts many happy returns of the day.

SAYS RUDY IS OUTSTANDING

In the write-up of the Grayling-Gaylord basketball game Feb. 22nd, the Grayling Herald-Times has this to say about one of the players (Rudy Harrison) on the Grayling team:

Grayling has one player that is outstanding, and without question one of the best high school players in this section. The game centered around him, and his uncanny ability to know where his as well as the opponents men were meant the difference between victory and defeat for Grayling. This young man plays center, and right on the job there. His ability to shoot baskets is remarkable, and it is said he is but a sophomore. Grayling is going to have to face him for two more years.

GOODFELLOWSHIP CLUB NOTES

The Club met Feb. 25th with Mrs. Lorane Sparkes. Meeting called to order by the pres., Mrs. C. G. Clippert. Business session.

Interesting articles were read by Mrs. J. W. Greenwood on Roger Babson, by Mrs. C. R. Keyport on Television, by Mrs. R. B. Howard on Ambassador Bridge. Meeting adjourned.

Mrs. R. B. Howard was hostess to the club Tuesday, March 4. In the absence of the pres., Mrs. Fred Welsh presided.

The annual election of officers took place and the following were elected: Pres., Mrs. Fred Welsh; vice pres., Mrs. R. B. Howard; Sec., Mrs. Lorane Sparkes; Treas., Mrs. O. P. Schumann.

Current topics will be studied again next year.

Why the Church?

Some time ago, we read a social analysis in which the writer conveyed the idea that the Christian Church was a defunct organization and ought to be scrapped. And that startled us. But the more we thought of the proposition, the more we were painfully aware of the fact that there are more ways than one of advancing such an idea.

Every community has its quota of citizens whose attitudes are negative toward the church as an institution and whose very indifference would result in the accomplishment of this very thing.

So that the remark which the writer had made was not so shocking after all. He was merely saying what many of my friends practice. In fact there is an eloquence in the attitude which is more persuasive than mere words.

Sometimes we wonder if it has dawned on the minds of the indifferent the social tragedy that would ensue if the Church became impotent. It is the Church which calls the community to righteousness and good-will. It is the Church which hallows marriage and glorifies childhood. It is the Church which imparts motive and instruction for social reform. It is the Church which generates faith and courage and assaults the citadels of social wrong.

It is the Church which philanthropy and education had their beginnings. It is the Church that generated the social conscience that abolished slavery. It is the Church that looks forward to the ultimate abolition of selfish aims in business, the establishment of industrial democracy and the outlawry of all business that destroys character.

Is it not sheer folly to advocate the scrapping of an institution like that? And is it any less a folly to be indifferent to the thing it seeks to do? Surely we recognize that organized religion is indispensable.

SHIP-BOARD TALKIE SUCCESSFUL

The first experimental showing of "talkie" on board a man-of-war, recently given on board the battleship Texas, enroute to Panama, was considered successful.

Navy sound engineers have been working on the problem of talkie installation on board ship for some time, several difficulties not met with in theatres and auditoriums, having to be overcome.

The first showing was given at sea, so that the hardest possible conditions would be met. These include vibration, wind and sea noises, etc. That the showing was successful, promises well for the future of this form of entertainment, not only on naval vessels, but on passenger ships as well—adding another means of relieving the tedium of an extended sea voyage.—Navy News.

CUSTER'S LAST STAND DRAMATIZED IN NEXT HEROES OF THE WORLD PROGRAM

General Custer's last stand against the Sioux Indians who in overwhelming numbers completely wiped out his entire command—one of the outstanding tragedies in American history—is to be dramatized in the twenty-second Heroes of the World program sponsored by Durant Motors, Inc. and presented by the National Broadcasting Company Sunday, March 9, at 7:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time over WEA and 38 affiliated stations in the United States and Canada.

The word picture painted by the writer of this historical episode is designed to leave a vivid and lasting impression of Custer's action when he realized his situation. The Indian hordes, outnumbering his estimate several times over, have wiped out Custer's skirmisher and detachments of flanking troops. His immediate command, all that remains of his famous Seventh Cavalry, has fallen into a trap set by Sitting Bull. Determined to sell their lives as dearly as possible these heroic men of the frontier face charge after charge of the Indians and die fighting.

Inside Information

Watercress fine chopped and creamed with butter, makes a delicious spread for graham bread sandwiches for club meetings, teas, and other social occasions. Mixed parsley, flavored with a few drops of lemon juice, and mixed with butter, is an other appropriate spread for sandwiches that are to be cut into fancy shapes with cookie cutters.

Corned meat kept over into the next summer should be watched closely in the spring, as the brine is likely to spoil. If the brine appears to be "ropy," remove the pieces of meat and scrub them thoroughly with a stiff brush and hot water. Then repack and cover with new brine. The brine should be kept in a cool place, as the sugar in it has a tendency to ferment.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Hoover Asks More Economy in Expenditures—Revolt in Santo Domingo

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

PRESIDENT HOOVER started off the week with a plea to the people of the nation to be moderate in their requests to congress for appropriations for projects in various parts of the country. His aim is to keep governmental expenditures down to a figure so reasonable that an increase in taxes will be obviated. Though this should seem a worthy aim, and in stating the President carefully made it plain that he was not reflecting on the wisdom of congress, he brought upon himself the wrath of some of the senators, notably Mr. Glass of Virginia.

The appropriations situation was the subject of a White House breakfast conference attended by Republican leaders of both houses of congress, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills, Col. J. C. Roup, director of the budget, and Walter H. Newton, one of the President's secretaries.

Mr. Newton issued a statement in which he enumerated proposals for increased expenditures—totaling $1,785,000,000, which he said if approved would imply an increase in taxes of 40 per cent. The list, however, included many projects that the congressional leaders had either never heard of or knew would not be given serious consideration. Consequently the imposing list did not appear to frighten them.

Senator Glass, reading Newton's statement in the senate, declared that "nothing more shameful has ever emanated from the White House within my thirty years of service in congress." The President, he said, was setting up a straw man merely for the purpose of knocking him down, since, as every one knew, many bills were introduced at every session of congress only for home consumption and with no idea that they would be enacted into law.

Mr. Hoover, meanwhile, had given out a statement obviously intended to pacify congress. In it he said: "It should be understood that the unprecedented drive now in progress for new legislation and for expansion of established services which increase expenditures beyond the budget, only in a small per cent originates with members of congress or heads of government departments. It originates from different sections of the country itself and from various groups and organizations, each vigorously supporting their own projects. Many of these projects are worthy and no doubt can and should be undertaken some time over future years, especially when funds are free by completion of legislation already adopted." And he urged "the people at home" to realize that the government cannot undertake immediately every worthy project.

IMMEDIATELY after the issuance of the President's economy plea the house adopted a senate resolution appropriating $7,000,000 for loans to farmers in the food stricken areas of fifteen Southern and Western states, though opponents declared the measure was "work" and "politically pie."

Under the resolution, as adopted, the secretary of agriculture may make advances for the purchase of seed, feed and fertilizer, which banks refuse loans in only six states, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia were authorized under the original senate resolution. The house agriculture committee, however, added Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, and New Mexico and the house itself tacked on Missouri and Oklahoma.

Representative O'Connor of Oklahoma said: "Everybody knows the purpose of this bill is to get congressional votes, but so long as you are cutting the pie, Oklahoma wants its piece."

THE Dominican republic was in the throes of a revolution last week. Insurgent forces, determined to keep President Vasquez from running for re-election and to assure the free choice of his successor in May, assembled in various parts of the island and marched on the capital city, Santo Domingo. They entered the city firing volleys in the air and were enthusiastically greeted by the populace. There was no bloodshed as the rebels took possession of all the public buildings. President Vasquez took refuge in the American legation and other administration leaders sought the protection of various foreign consulates. Vice President Alfonsea resigned. Charles B. Curtis, the American minister, was acting as intermediary between the insurgents and the government and was trying to bring about an agreement whereby the situation could be solved without bloodshed or damage to property. The insurgent leaders had promised to respect all lives and property and made no changes except in the police force of the city.

John M. Cabot of Massachusetts, a young member of the American embassy staff, was most active as the emissary of Minister Curtis and after a swift trip to Santiago to confer with Rafael Urena, chief of the insurgents, he was hopeful that a peaceable settlement of the whole controversy could be arranged.

In Washington it was said by officials that it probably would not be necessary to send marines to the Dominican republic to protect American lives and property. If they are needed, however, there are plenty with in easy reach, and the scouting fleet is now in Caribbean waters.

CAMILLE CHAUTEAUX—Radical Socialist, and his government of France lasted only five days. Then they were denied a vote of confidence by the chamber of deputies and were forced to resign. Chateaux told parliament he had no intention of following the radical policies of the left wing, except that taxes would be reduced, but would maintain the lines of action which Andre Tardieu, his predecessor, had outlined, including his policy in the naval conference at London. The center refused to believe him, and the left wing was displeased. The vote, which was 232 to 277 against Chateaux, showed there is no real majority in the chamber of deputies and that any government can survive only through a coalition of center and left groups.

Raymond Poincare was called by President Doumergue but declined to undertake the formation of a ministry on the ground of ill-health. So Tardieu was given the job again and Poincare said he would help him, though he could not accept a place in the cabinet. The expectation was that Tardieu would be able to make up his government in time to resume work in the naval conference by March 5.

IN THE absence of the French delegation—the chief delegates of the other nations in the London naval conference resumed their negotiations, and it was reported the Americans, English and Japanese were making notable progress in adjusting their differences. The British official spokesman gave out a communique laying stress on the fact that "the five-power pact is still holding the center of the picture" and adding that "any sort of an agreement reached will be purely tentative, will be dependent on French and Italian acceptance and will also depend upon its inclusion in a five-power treaty."

I Trade at Home

Because my interests are here.

Because I want to see the goods.

Because I want to get what I want when I pay for it.

Because here I live and here I hope to die.

Because the men I buy from stand back of the goods.

Because the man I buy from pays part of town, county and state taxes.

Because every dollar I spend at home works for the community in which I live.

Because the community good enough for me to live in is good enough to buy in.

Because the man I buy from helps support my school, my lodge, my church, my home.

Because, when "ill-luck, misfortune or bereavement come, the man I buy from is here with his kindly greetings, his words of cheer and his pocketbook if need be.

WANTED

"God give us men. The time demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith, and willing hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not fill;
Men whom the spoils of office
cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
Men who have honor; men who will not lie;
Men who can stand before a demagogue
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking;

Tall men sun-crowned, who live above
the fog.
In public duty and in private thinking."

Henry Bowen appeared before
Justice of Peace Hans Petersen Monday afternoon and pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing coal from Emil Neiderer. Mr. Neiderer had many times noticed sleigh tracks leading from the coal car and has been suspicious that there has been someone taking coal. On Monday morning,
Mr. Neiderer followed the sleigh tracks to the Bowen home where he found the sleigh. He summoned Sheriff Bobenmeyer who came to the Bowen home. Not finding Mr. Bowen had taken a considerable amount of coal from the car on Sunday. At the arraignment, Mr. Bowen was fined ten dollars and costs or ten days in jail.
Not being able to pay the fine, Mr.
Bowen is serving his sentence.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

A poultry house for sitting hens should be secluded, slightly darkened, and separated from the houses for layers and breeders. Place the nests so that the hens won't have to fly or jump into them.

Cowpeas for hay are better if grown with other crops than alone. The sorghums (sorghos and kafirs), Sudan grass, Johnson grass, soybeans, and millet are suitable. Sorghos or kafirs, when grown with cowpeas, make a good hay or silage. This mixture cures more easily than cowpeas alone, makes a well-balanced ration, and is relished by all kinds of livestock.

If the dairyman buys all his feed, hires all his labor, and disposes of the milk at current wholesale prices, he will make little if any money. If he buys all his feed and does all his own work he may make day wages. To make the greatest profit raise most or all the feed and market it through the dairy cow at a price at least equal to what the same feed would cost on the market.

It is easier to sow celery seed evenly if it is mixed several times its bulk of finely sifted white sand, while corn meal, fine hominy grits, or any similar material that will not injure the seeds. Celery seeds are so small that 70,000 of them weigh only one ounce, and it is difficult to distribute them thinly enough if sown alone.

Poultrymen always used to cool the eggs hatching in an incubator by taking them out for a short time each day. It has been found that this practice is unnecessary, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, except when the temperature of the incubator has been running too high. To decide whether to cool eggs or not, notice the size of the air cell, which should gradually increase in size. If the development is too rapid, cool the eggs until they feel slightly cool to the touch.

It's a good idea to make a small outdoor seedbed, with specially prepared soil, in a corner of the farm garden, to start the plants. They will be more stocky if started here and later transplanted. A good soil mixture for the seedbed is one part of well-rotted manure, two parts of good garden loam or rotted sods, and one part of sharp, fine sand. The addition of leaf-mold or peat makes the soil better. Mix the materials well and sift the soil.

The most profitable pig is the one that never stops growing till it goes to market. Pigs are less likely to be fed irregularly and to lose weight if they and the sows are fed in self-feeders where several days' or even a week's supply of feed may be stored. At the U. S. Department of Agriculture experiment farm in Maryland sows and pigs on self-feeders have proved more thrifty than those that were hand-fed. In tests comparing the two methods of feeding, No. 2 yellow corn, commercial gray middlings of good quality, and 60 per cent tankage were the chief feeds. The pigs ate when they pleased and as much as they pleased. The outstanding results of the tests were that in the self-fed lots the feed cost per 100 pounds of gain was materially less and the sows and pigs were in better condition at weaning time.

An effective trap for roaches is made by greasing the sides of deep bread tins with a little rancid butter. The roaches are attracted by the food odor and are unable to climb out because of the greased sides. Dusting thoroughly with sodium fluoride on shelves and in cracks about the kitchen will also exterminate roaches effectively. Sodium fluoride is poisonous to people as well as to roaches. Keep it away from children and pets.

It is to the housekeeper's interest to see that the roads about her home are oiled or regularly sprinkled, either by the community or by individual residents, to help keep dirt from blowing into the house in the season for open windows and doors. Muddy or dusty shoes and clothing are another source of dirt in the house. Much of this can be kept out by going away with dirt walks and bare ground near the house, by fastening mats and scrapers be used outside the doors, and by providing special places just inside where muddy rubbers, boots, and coats may be left.

THREE YEARS OF TORTURE ENDED BY NEW KONJOLA

When All Else Tried Failed Konjola Proved Again Its Amazing Merit

MRS. J. S. ROWSEY

"How I wish I had known of Konjola long ago!" Thousands, who suffered while seeking in vain for relief until they found Konjola, have said that. One of these is Mrs. J. S. Rowsey, 10222 Twelfth street, Detroit. And think how happy she must have been when she paid this tribute to Konjola:

"How I wish I had known Konjola long ago, for this is the only medicine that ever helped me. Three years ago I was afflicted with stomach and kidney troubles. Pains settled in the small of my back; I had dizzy spells and attacks of nausea. My feet and ankles were badly swollen. Constipation added to my misery, and I was sick all over and completely discouraged."

"The many endorsements of this new and different medicine, Konjola, induced me to try it. To make a long story short, it took Konjola just three weeks to vanquish every last one of my ailments. I now believe that I am the person who was so miserable three weeks ago. Konjola certainly restored me to glorious health when all else I tried had failed."

Konjola is sold in Grayling at the Mac & Gidley drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Woods Used for Paper
Spruce is the principal wood used in the manufacture of paper. Large quantities of hemlock are also consumed, as this wood ranks next to spruce in volume of material from which pulp is made.

ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed, and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

IF a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case, you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

You may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, but that very fact should give you confidence that you are receiving full value in the new car. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on your old car.

Because there is no waste, extravagance or undue profit in manufacturing, distribution or selling, every dollar you pay for a Ford brings a full dollar in return. In lower first cost, in reliability and long life, in the low cost of operation, service and replacement parts, the Ford will save you much more than the seeming difference in trade allowance.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the five steel-spoke wheels, and the four Houdaille hydraulic double-acting shock absorbers. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings, are other features that show the extra quality built into the Ford car.

THE CARE OF YOUR MONEY

THE FOUNDATION OF SUCCESS

Notwithstanding the variety of human wants and the fact that we all want different things, there is one thing we all desire—and that is SUCCESS. Yet it is surprising to note how few people really attempt to achieve success in a business-like way. Most people hope and dream for their ship to come in instead of planning and working for it. Hoping and dreaming alone will not bring success. Planning and working for it is the right way surely will bring it.

What is "Success?" Webster defines success as the "prosperous termination of any enterprise."

Abraham Lincoln said: "It begins with saving money."

Andrew Carnegie said: "The fallacy of the man who does not save his money is due only to the fact that he has no money with which to take advantage of opportunities that come in the way of every man, but also and particularly to the fact that such a man is not able or fit to avail himself of these opportunities. The man who cannot and does not save money cannot and will not do anything else worth while."

James J. Hill: "If you want to know whether you are destined to be a success or a failure in life you can easily find out. Are you able to save money? If you aren't, drop out. You will lose. The seed of success is not in you."

George Washington: "Economy makes happy homes and sound nations. Instill it deep."

John Wanamaker: "The difference between the clerk who spends all his salary and the clerk who saves part of it is the owner of a business and the man without a job."

Wm. E. Gladstone: "Economy is near to the keystone of character and success. A boy who is taught to save his money will rarely be a bad man or a failure. The man who saves will rise in his trade or profession steadily. This is inevitable. They all tell the same story that Straus Brothers Investment Institute advocates—Saving is the Foundation of Success."

Consistent saving and investing in sound securities break the habits that prevent success—stop wastes and create a growing financial outlook.
